Operation Market Garden – Appeal for Information

Dear Veteran,

I was one of the RAF Officers shot down over Iraq in 1991 during the first Gulf War, held as a Prisoner Of War and paraded on TV – you might remember the pictures (shown below) from the time. Since leaving the RAF in 1996 I have pursued a career as a writer and have now completed 11 books including 3 covering the experiences of World War II veterans including, “The Last Escape” about the PoWs on the Long Marches and “Home Run” about evaders who made it home. My latest book, “Medic! - Saving Lives From Dunkirk To Afghanistan” has just been published.

My next project is to write a book about Arnhem and bearing in mind the story is well known, I am trying to concentrate on some different aspects including the Royal Engineers, the injured, the PoWs & evaders. I would be very interested to hear from you if you were involved with Operation Market Garden in any way – especially if you have written your own account of your experiences. If you think you can help, my contact details are above.

Best wishes, John Nichol
